

Technology, Media & Telecommunications (TMT)

Software companies, telecom providers, startups, digital media, AI/fintech.

Sophisticated telecommunications carriers and information services companies turn to Friday, Eldredge & Clark for client-focused representation in complex matters. Our attorneys are among the top-rated in the country in challenging areas of practice such as complicated tax issues surrounding employee benefits and mission-critical class action lawsuits. Manufacturers of technology, including medical device manufacturers, rely on us for product liability defense. We draw our experience not only from the representation of clients but also from our service on boards and foundations such as the Executive Committee of the University of Arkansas Technology Development Foundation and the Board of Advisors of the Arkansas Tech University School of Business.
