Defending Clients Against Complex and High-Stakes False Claims Act Allegations

Friday, Eldredge & Clark provides trusted defense for clients facing investigations or litigation under the False Claims Act (FCA) and qui tam provisions. These cases—often brought by whistleblowers and involving government healthcare or financial programs—carry significant risk, including treble damages and civil penalties. Our experienced attorneys bring deep insight into federal enforcement priorities and decades of litigation experience to protect clients' reputations, operations, and financial stability.

We represent hospitals, healthcare providers, and corporate entities in FCA investigations and litigation involving Medicare, Medicaid, and financial services, ensuring each case is strategically managed from initial inquiry through resolution.

Areas of Focus

Government Investigations & Enforcement

We represent clients at every stage of federal investigations, including responding to civil investigative demands, subpoenas, and audits by the Department of Justice (DOJ), Office of Inspector General (OIG), and other federal agencies. Our team works proactively to manage disclosure, preserve privilege, and mitigate potential exposure.

Litigation Defense

Our attorneys defend healthcare providers, financial institutions, and corporations in FCA and qui tam lawsuits nationwide. We develop targeted defense strategies to challenge allegations of fraud, false billing, and improper claims submissions while safeguarding our clients' reputations and business operations.

Healthcare & Financial Sector Expertise

With decades of experience representing hospitals, health systems, and financial entities, we understand the regulatory frameworks that drive FCA enforcement. We advise clients on compliance with Medicare and Medicaid billing requirements, Stark and Anti-Kickback laws, and related federal regulations.

Compliance Counseling & Risk Prevention

We assist clients in developing and implementing compliance programs designed to identify and prevent potential FCA violations. Our approach includes internal audits, employee training, and risk assessments tailored to each client's operations and regulatory environment.
